

PURPOSE AND BOARD RESPONSIBILITIES

The purpose of these Corporate Governance Guidelines is to continue a long-standing commitment to good corporate governance practices by The First of Long Island Corporation (“Corporation”). Such practices provide an important framework within which the Board of Directors (“Board”) and management can pursue the strategic objectives of the Corporation and ensure its long-term financial strength for the benefit of stockholders. The Board has adopted these Corporate Governance Guidelines, which have evolved over many years and will continue to be changed and supplemented as appropriate. Their unchanging, fundamental premise, however, is the independent nature of the Board and the paramount importance of its fiduciary duty to stockholders.

The ultimate decision-making body of the Corporation is the Board, except for matters requiring stockholder approval. The directors' fiduciary duty is to exercise their business judgment in the best interests of the Corporation and its stockholders in compliance with applicable laws, regulations and regulatory guidance. As appropriate, the Board will take into consideration the interests of other stakeholders including customers, employees and the communities in which the Corporation operates.

The Board selects and oversees the Chief Executive Officer who, together with the senior management team, is charged with conducting the business of the Corporation.

New non-management directors will receive orientation from appropriate executives and directors regarding the Corporation’s business and affairs. The Board considers it desirable and encourages that directors participate in continuing education opportunities and considers such participation an appropriate expense to be reimbursed by the Corporation.

BOARD COMPOSITION

The size of the Board will: (1) provide for sufficient diversity among non-management directors while also facilitating substantive discussions in which each director can participate meaningfully and (2) be within the limits prescribed by the Corporation’s by-laws, which currently provide that the Board shall consist of not less than five nor more than twenty five directors.

The Board is made up of Class I and Class II directors, which shall be as nearly equal in number as possible, and no class shall have less than three directors. Generally, one class of directors will stand for election at each annual meeting of stockholders, with each director to serve a two-year term. Exceptions include a director elected to fill a vacancy and newly created directorships when the number of directors is increased by the Board.

There are no established term limits. While term limits could help insure that there are fresh ideas and viewpoints available to the Board, they hold the disadvantage of losing the contribution of directors who have been able to develop, over a period of time, increasing insight into the Corporation and its operations and, therefore, provide an increasing contribution to the Board as a whole. To ensure that the Board remains composed of high functioning members able to keep their commitments to board service, individual directors are responsible for completing an annual self-assessment of their contributions to the Board based on duties and responsibilities established by the Governance and Nominating Committee. The Chairman of the Board meets with individual directors to discuss these duties and responsibilities.

No person shall be eligible to be elected or appointed as a director if he or she shall have attained the age of 75 years on or prior to the date of his or her election or appointment. This eligibility requirement shall not apply to individuals who served on the Corporation's Board of Directors as of April 21, 2015.

To avoid any potential conflict of interest, directors will not accept or continue a seat on any additional public company or financial institution board without first reviewing the matter with the Governance and Nominating Committee and obtaining the approval of the Board.

A change in a non-management director's employment or occupation should not automatically lead to such director's resignation from the Board. In such case, the Governance and Nominating Committee will review the appropriateness of such director's continued service on the Board in light of his or her changed responsibilities, association or circumstances.

The Board expects that when an executive who serves on the Board resigns from his or her executive position, he or she will also simultaneously resign from the Board. Whether the individual continues to serve on the Board is a matter for discussion by the Board.

The Board believes that stockholder interests are best served by having a Chairman of the Board who is independent of management and whose exclusive responsibility is the long-term best interest of the Corporation's stockholders.

The Chairman of the Board organizes the work of the Board and ensures that the Board has access to sufficient information to enable it to carry out its functions, including monitoring the Corporation's performance and the performance of the Board and management. The role of the Chairman of the Board includes: (1) presiding over all meetings of the Board and stockholders, including regular executive sessions of the Board in which the Chief Executive Officer, a management director, and other members of management do not participate; (2) establishing the annual agenda of the Board and agendas of each meeting in consultation with the Chief Executive Officer; (3) serving as an ex officio member of each board committee and advising with respect to the work of each board committee; (4) coordinating periodic Board reviews of management's strategic plan for the Corporation; and (5) coordinating the Compensation Committee annual performance review of the Chief Executive Officer.

BOARD MEETINGS

The Board holds ten regular meetings and such special meetings as deemed appropriate. At least one meeting, regular or special, will focus on strategic planning. It is expected that each director will make every effort to attend each board meeting and each meeting of any board committee on which he or she sits and spend the time needed and meet as frequently as necessary to properly discharge their duties. Attendance in person is preferred but attendance by other means of communication through which all persons participating in the meeting can hear each other is permitted if necessary.

THE FIRST OF LONG ISLAND CORPORATION

Non-management directors will have regularly scheduled executive sessions. Executive sessions are attended only by non-management directors and are led by the Chairman of the Board. Any non-management director may raise issues for discussion at an executive session. The Chairman of the Board will apprise the CEO regarding significant discussions had and conclusions reached at such meetings.

For regularly scheduled board meetings and, to the extent practicable, for special meetings of the Board, the agenda will be distributed to each director in advance of the meeting. While the agenda is planned carefully, it is flexible enough so that unexpected developments can be discussed at board meetings. Any director may request that an item be included on the agenda. The Board reviews and approves the strategic plan, capital budget and operating budget. Throughout the year, the Board reviews the Corporation's performance against the strategic plan and budgets.

Information and data that are important to the Board's understanding of the business to be conducted at a board or board committee meeting are, to the extent practicable, distributed to directors sufficiently in advance of the meeting. In situations where the content of a presentation is best delivered in conjunction with a presentation dialogue, the presentation will not be distributed in advance. Detailed financial information is provided monthly.

CRITERIA FOR NOMINATION TO THE BOARD

The Board as a whole should adequately reflect the diversity of the Corporation's constituencies and the communities in which the Corporation conducts business. Although the Governance and Nominating Committee considers diversity in identifying nominees for director, it does not have a formal policy in this regard. The Governance and Nominating Committee has a broad view of diversity and conceptualizes it to include differences of viewpoint, professional experience, education, skill and other individual qualities and attributes that contribute to board heterogeneity, as well as race, ethnicity, gender and other characteristics.

The Governance and Nominating Committee believes that certain minimum qualifications must be met by a nominee for the Board. Specifically, the nominee should understand that the principal duty of a director is to represent the stockholders of the Corporation. The nominee should also possess the highest level of professional and personal ethics and values, be free of any conflict of interest with respect to board service, have broad experience at the policy-making level, have the ability to provide insight and practical wisdom based on experience and expertise, be independent in accordance with the criteria set forth in these Corporate Governance Guidelines, be able to understand and relate to the culture of the Corporation, have sufficient time to properly discharge the duties associated with serving as a director, and have experience and knowledge that will enhance or maintain a diversity of business background among board members.

In addition to general qualifications and the consideration of diversity, the Governance and Nominating Committee has developed a Skill Sets Matrix that sets forth the specific core competencies it believes one or more board members should possess. The matrix is used to evaluate the collective skills of the existing board and identify the skills that the Governance and Nominating Committee should seek when filling a board vacancy or increasing the size of the Board. The Governance and Nominating Committee recognizes that some board members may possess many of the core competencies, while others will possess only a few, but that each board member should have particular strength with respect to at least one. The identified core competencies, which are subject to change from time to time, include, but are not limited to:

corporate governance, banking, strategic planning, business leadership, organizational management and/or business operations, accounting and reporting, finance and/or investments, technology and/or information security, mergers and acquisitions, legal and/or regulatory, real estate, marketing and/or public relations, and financial accounting experience necessary to qualify as an “audit committee financial expert” as defined in Regulation S-K of the Securities and Exchange Commission.

Although the Corporation has a long history of being able to attract and maintain a cohesive board with the variety of skills necessary to properly oversee the affairs of the Corporation, the Governance and Nominating Committee will consider director candidates recommended by stockholders. In addition, nominations for the election of directors may be made by any stockholder entitled to vote for the election of directors provided that such nominations are made in accordance with the provisions of the Corporation’s bylaws establishing the information and notice requirements for such nominations.

Each member of the Board of the Bank is required to own sufficient stock in the Corporation to qualify as a national bank director prior to becoming a director. Each director of the Corporation is required to have beneficial ownership of shares of common stock of the Corporation with a current market value equal to three (3) times cash retainers, which includes Committee retainers and per meeting fees. The CEO of the Corporation is required to have beneficial ownership of shares of common stock of the Corporation with a current market value equal to three (3) times his or her current base salary. Each other executive officer of the Corporation is required to have beneficial ownership of shares of common stock of the Corporation with a current market value equal to one (1) times his or her current base salary. All ownership requirements need to be met as follows: 1) within five years of becoming a director or executive officer; 2) within five years of an increase in ownership requirements for the incremental increase only; or 3) within three years of falling out of compliance with these requirements due to compensation increases or fluctuations in market value.

As a condition to receiving equity awarded under the Corporation’s equity incentive plan each director and executive officer shall enter into an agreement with the Company providing that any stock acquired from the exercise of stock options or the vesting of equity awards, net of the disposition of shares for tax withholding requirements if any, must be held until stock ownership requirements are met.

Hedging the Company’s securities with the use of financial instruments (including prepaid variable forward contracts, equity swaps, calls, puts collars, and exchange funds) that offset a decrease in the market value of the company’s equity securities and any other transaction with comparable economic consequences are prohibited.

DETERMINATION OF DIRECTOR INDEPENDENCE

The Board will consist of a majority of independent directors as required by Nasdaq listing standards whom are free from any relationship (including disallowed compensatory arrangements) that, in the opinion of the Board, would interfere with the exercise of independent judgment as a member of the Board.

The following persons shall not be considered independent:

- A director who is, or at any time during the past three years was, employed by the Corporation;
- A director who accepted or who has a Family Member¹ who accepted any compensation from the Corporation in excess of $120,000 during the current fiscal year or any of the previous three fiscal years, other than (a) compensation for board or board committee service, (b) compensation paid to a Family Member who is a non-executive employee of the Corporation, or (c) benefits under a tax-qualified retirement plan or non-discretionary compensation.
- A director who is a Family Member of an individual who is, or at any time during the past three years was, employed by the Corporation as an executive officer;
- A director who is, or has a Family Member who is, a partner in, controlling shareholder or owner of, or executive officer of any organization (including any business entity or any nonprofit organization) to which the Corporation made, or from which the Corporation received, payments for property or services, in the current fiscal year or any of the past three fiscal years, that exceed 5% of the recipient's consolidated gross revenues for that year, or $200,000, whichever is more, other than (a) payments arising solely from investments in the Corporation's securities or (b) payments under non-discretionary charitable contribution matching programs.
- A director who is, or has a Family Member who is, employed as an executive officer of another entity, where at any time during the past three years any of the Corporation's executive officers now serve or served on the compensation committee of such other entity.
- A director who is, or has a Family Member who is, a current partner of the Corporation's independent auditors, or within the past three years worked on the Corporation's audit as a partner or employee of the Corporation's independent auditors.

In addition to meeting the preceding requirements, audit committee members must also meet the following requirements to be considered independent:

- An audit committee member may not directly or indirectly beneficially own 10% or more of any class of the Corporation's equity securities.
- An audit committee member may not be an Affiliated Person² of the Corporation or any of its subsidiaries.
- An audit committee member, a Family Member or an Associated Entity may not be a party to any existing or proposed contract or other written or oral arrangement which provides for payments from the Corporation or any of its subsidiaries for any consulting, advisory or other compensatory fee, other than compensation for service as a member of the Board or any board committee.

¹ Family Member means a person's spouse, parents, children and siblings, whether by blood, marriage (i.e., "in-law" relationship) or adoption, or anyone residing in such person's home.

² Affiliated Person means a person that directly, or indirectly through one or more intermediaries, controls, or is controlled by, or is under common control with, the Corporation or any of its subsidiaries.

CORPORATE GOVERNANCE GUIDELINES

- An audit committee member must be able to read and understand fundamental financial statements, including a company's balance sheet, income statement, and cash flow statement.
- An audit committee member may not have participated in the preparation of the financial statements of the Corporation or any of its current subsidiaries at any time during the past three years.

BOARD COMMITTEES

Currently, the standing committees of the Board are the Governance and Nominating Committee, the Audit Committee and the Compensation Committee. In addition, the Corporation's wholly owned bank subsidiary has two standing committees: the Loan Committee and the Board Asset Liability Committee.

All committees of the Corporation's Board will consist solely of independent directors. Committees of the Corporation's wholly owned bank subsidiary may include management directors. Each standing committee will have its own charter setting forth its purpose, composition, meetings, duties and responsibilities and resources and authority. Each committee will review its charter annually and make changes as deemed appropriate. The charter is submitted to the Governance and Nominating Committee for review. The Governance and Nominating Committee determines the adequacy of the charter before recommending it to the Board for approval. Each committee will complete an annual self-assessment comparing its performance with charter requirements and report the results to the Governance and Nominating Committee.

The Governance and Nominating Committee advises the Board on its committee structure including the number of committees, appointment of committee Chairs and rotation of committee members based on committee needs, director experience, interest and availability, and evolving legal and regulatory considerations.

The Chair of each board committee will regularly report to the full Board on the activities of his or her committee.

BOARD RESOURCES

The Board and board committees shall be given the resources and assistance necessary to discharge their responsibilities, including unrestricted access to senior management of the Corporation and other employees and documents. The Board and board committees have the authority to retain outside counsel and other professional advisors, as deemed appropriate, in fulfilling their duties and responsibilities. They shall have the sole authority to retain and dismiss any consultant or firm, and to approve the fees and other retention terms for such parties.

ANNUAL EXECUTIVE OFFICER PERFORMANCE EVALUATION

The Compensation Committee evaluates the performance of the Chief Executive Officer against established goals and objectives and, subject to any existing employment contracts, approves the Chief Executive Officer's compensation before recommending it to the Board to be ratified. The Chief Executive Officer evaluates the performance of other executive officers, which is reviewed by the Compensation Committee. The Chief Executive Officer recommends to the Compensation Committee the other executive officers' compensation. The Compensation Committee approves the other executive officers' compensation before recommending it to the Board to be ratified.

Compensation for the executive officers primarily consists of: (1) base salary; (2) cash bonuses; (3) non-equity incentive plan compensation paid under the Corporation's cash incentive plan authorized by stockholders; and (4) equity awarded under the Corporation's equity incentive plan authorized by stockholders. The Compensation Committee periodically utilizes an independent compensation consulting firm to assist them in determining the appropriateness and competitiveness of compensation paid to executive officers.

Effective February 25, 2015, any bonus and incentive compensation awarded or paid by the Company or any of its subsidiaries to executive officers is subject to recovery or "clawback" by the Company if (1) the payments or awards were based on reported financial statements or financial information (or any performance metrics or criteria that were based on such financial statements or information), (2) there is an accounting restatement of financial statements due to material noncompliance with financial reporting requirements under the federal securities laws, and (3) the amount of the bonus or incentive compensation, as calculated under the restated financial results, is less than the amount actually paid or awarded under the original financial results. Recovery of the amount that would not otherwise have been made under the restated results may include one or more of the following: 1) reimbursement of the gross amount of any bonus or incentive compensation paid to such executive officer that was subsequently reduced due to the restatement; 2) cancellation of outstanding restricted stock, restricted stock units, stock options and any other equity awards granted to such executive officer; and/or 3) reimbursement of any gains realized in the exercise of stock options, vesting of or open market sales of vested, restricted stock, restricted stock units and any other equity awards granted to such Executive Officer.

PROHIBITION OF TAX GROSS-UP ARRANGEMENTS

Effective April 19, 2016, the Corporation shall not implement tax gross-up arrangements for its executive management team. The one legacy tax gross-up arrangement for the Bank's CEO under the Supplemental Executive Retirement Plan is excluded from this prohibition.

SUCCESSION PLANNING

The Board is responsible for management succession planning; which responsibility may be delegated from time to time to a standing, special or Ad-Hoc Committee, which after inquiry will make recommendations to the Board. The Governance and Nominating Committee is responsible for reviewing the succession plan for directors, which after inquiry will make recommendations to the Board. Succession planning addresses succession both in the ordinary course of business and on a contingent basis in case of unexpected events.

BOARD SELF-EVALUATION

The Governance and Nominating Committee leads the Board in the annual review of board performance to determine whether the Board and its committees are functioning effectively. The Governance and Nominating Committee may utilize an outside consultant for this purpose. The evaluation of the Board and its Committees should include an analysis of the Board's core competencies. As a result of this assessment, the Governance and Nominating Committee will determine if there are needed areas for improvement.

DIRECTOR COMPENSATION

Compensation for non-management directors will be determined by the Board on the recommendation of the Compensation Committee. Non-management director compensation will be set at a level that is consistent with the size and scope of the Corporation's business and the responsibilities of its directors. Compensation paid to non-management directors for service on the Board may be paid in cash and/or equity compensation. The Compensation Committee periodically utilizes an independent compensation consulting firm to assist them in determining the appropriateness and competitiveness of compensation paid to non-management directors.

Management directors receive no separate compensation for their board service.

BOARD'S INTERACTION WITH INSTITUTIONAL INVESTORS, PRESS, CUSTOMERS AND OTHER INTERESTED PARTIES

The Board believes that management speaks for the Corporation. Individual board members may, from time to time at the request of management, meet or otherwise communicate with various constituencies that are involved with the Corporation. If comments from the Board are appropriate, they should, in most circumstances, come from the Chairman of the Board.

GOVERNANCE GUIDELINES REVISION

The Governance and Nominating Committee will review these Corporate Governance Guidelines annually and will recommend to the Board such revisions as it deems necessary for the Board to discharge its responsibilities.
